ABOUT THE FESTIVAL

As they've done every summer since 1996, artists in and around Treadwell and Franklin will once again open their studios, homes, barns and galleries to host friends and visitors from across New York State and beyond. This year's lineup includes more than 50 participating artists spread across 20 locales, the majority of which are located along the former "Catskill Turnpike".

The Festival's original mission was to use an open-studio model to strengthen (sometimes forge) relationships between creatives and their neighbors in an authentic way while simultaneously demonstrating the undeniable financial and cultural value that artists can add to a community. Given the changes this region has undergone over the last few years, this mission seems even more relevant and important.

Stagecoach is a self-guided tour and entirely free to the public. Many of its visitors begin their journey at the Bright Hill Literary Center in Treadwell where a salon-style exhibition of participating artists' works can be found. The exhibit will remain for the month of July but can prove especially helpful for visitors trying to plan their day(s) at the Festival.
